My Friday night ended at The Box, where the hotspot famous for its racy burlesque show, was transformed into an intimate dinner space for friends to celebrate the Ruffian Fall 2010 collection, which walked earlier that day. After dinner, the tables were moved aside to make room for a dance floor. The Arizona Beverage-sponsored event really got going when Scarlett Johansson and Kings of Leon's Nathan Follow showed up to get down with the fashion crowd. And I could have sworn that I spotted the Guns N' Roses guys in the corner. Seems like everyone is coming out of the woodwork this Fashion Week.
